

...The business innovation award was received by Mrs Catherine Namatovu Kalanzi, a qualified pharmaceutical scientist the big brain behind Catnams a product developed out of her own formula. Catnams product makes Afro hair soft and manageable. It is recommended to relieve dryness of the scalp, strengthens and softens natural or relaxed hair.

The event was held on 30.12.2007, in the razzle-dazzling foyer of PIYA PIYA lounge, a prestigious wine bar and restaurant nestling on the edges of one of the spectacular and opulent areas of the city centre, just a stone's throw away from the vibrant heart of central London.

Nominees for the awards were drawn from many categories among which included accountancy, money, banking and finance, legal, sports, media and Communication, entertainment, business, community development and religion. The show was presented by David Wasswa a London based journalist, sponsored by Mr. James Ndawula the Manager of Master Link Money Transfer and supported by Mr. Wily Mutenza the publisher of Promota one the leading African magazine in London.

A special award was given to the arch Bishop of York Dr. Tucker Mugabi Sentamu thanking him for what he has done for his community and also for achieving one of the highest positions in the Church of England, his award was collected by the most venerable Rev Daniel Steven Kimbugwe Kajumba the archdeacon of Reigate in the Southwark Diocese. Rev Dan Kajumba himself received an award in the category of religion for the Church of England...